

Global Clinical Supplies Group is an innovative global organization respected for its expertise in clinical supplies, whose members contribute to and inspire each other and in so doing, influence the pharmaceutical and biotech industries.

Mission Statement

Global Clinical Supplies Group (GCSG) is a professional organization that provides a forum for open discussion to share knowledge and industry best practices for clinical supply and related professionals. We fulfill this mission within a culture of friendly collaboration by:

- Convening annual conferences
- Providing an opportunity & means for networking
- Hosting an interactive website
- Offering professional & personal development programs

Our Values

A big commitment to knowledge and the industry

- Continuous Learning
- Professionalism, Integrity & Candor
- Ethical Conduct and Transparency
- Altruism in Service to Our Profession
- Courage and Risk-Taking

GCSG, known as Midwest Clinical Supplies Group (MCSG) until 2011, held its first US conference in 1988, with 20 attendees representing 10 companies. In 2014, GCSG held the first European Knowledge Forum, attracting 94 attendees representing 50 companies. Since then, both conferences have grown significantly with more than 600 attendees representing over 150 different companies attending the conferences in the US and Europe annually. In 2021 GCSG plans to launch in the Asia Pacific region to continue this growth.

Today, GCSG conferences are renowned for being the best forums to share, exchange and learn new information about clinical supplies, while benchmarking how the rest of the industry manages their clinical supply chain challenges.

Why become a Member?

Join GCSG to have full access to our educational resources, conference materials and our directory of more than 600 clinical supply colleagues.
